Wow... I've never experienced a summer this hot before!

With all this heat, air conditioners and furnace blowers have been working overtime and as a result, we've already seen many pieces of equipment in need of service.

With everyone self-isolating at home, it has added to the workload of the furnace. A lot of our customers have been upgrading their heating and air-conditioning system now that they are actually spending more time at home. Some customers have also upgraded their filtration system and are installing UV lights, in preparation of a possible second wave.

In order to stop the spread of Covid-19, our service technicians and installers have been wearing masks and sanitizing often. And with this heat, it has been very hard on them and taking longer for each service call.

Please don't wait for the rush, try to schedule your appointment as early as possible.

Remember, we also service pool heaters and gas fireplaces too.
